

Reflective Writing on Group Work

Description:

During our Critical Thinking lectures, Miss Zammit tends to give us classwork that involves us splitting into group ~~and s.~~ ~~Our group consists of, Peter, Kimberly, Jerome and Hario. In fact,~~ we tend to work very well with each other, ~~however, we are not 100% efficient.~~

~~Each of us involves ourselves in different questions/roles in the group to work more efficiently. Opinions are widely accepted in this group and we always use a sort of democratic system to choose the better answer for these questions/roles.~~

Reflection in Action:

Each of us ~~where~~ ~~was~~ anxious during the group work as we didn't want to ~~put~~ ~~give~~ a bad impression ~~on~~ ~~of~~ ourselves as last time in past group work activities. ~~We~~ all had the fear of failing to do the task correctly and fail one another.

Overall, after some weeks and constantly working together, we adapted to each other and now we are much more comfortable communicating. Our group work is much more efficient nowadays and we tend to talk more compared ~~from~~ ~~to~~ our very first lecture together when we did not know anything about each other.

Reflection on Action:

~~Because of our characteristics, we have very good chemistry and work quite well with each other. Efficiency might be compromised due to the fact that~~ ~~However, the only aspect that is not going too well is that~~ we are still a bit shy of each other therefore our ~~our~~ efficiency is not fully utilized yet. In the first group work we had, we were constantly muting our microphones and talked less, now we usually tend to have chats here and there after finishing our work and communicate more during the group work. ~~(why .. mistakes? Awkward?)~~

Because of our characteristics (elaborate) , we have very good chemistry and work quite well with each other.

Our value for doing work correctly, promoted us to get to know each other more therefore we instantly got along and had much more of a passionate effort being put in our answers. With that value, we each assigned roles to questions individually and we instantly got tasks done with minimal work involved but had good passionate answers.

Looking back, if we would have done anything differently is to be able to be less shy during and outside of the group work as in turn, we had our communication skills and work efficiency effected.

If we do get rid of this shyness, we would probably work much more efficiently and get to know each other better.:-

We learned that we work well as a collective as we work based on our strengths and having our group leader dividing us with the tasks to work on makes us work much more efficiently.

Moreover, to operate more effectively, we will continue to try to communicate better. Finally, we found that we should question the decisions that we tend to agree with in the group to make sure we do not agree just because of groupthink.
